Dear Mr. Mahmoud Valanejad,

A good and faithful businessman had pledged to pay the publication cost of the book of Hagh va Batel [Truth and False]—discussions about the teachings of Baha'ism; but since someone else had already paid it, he pledged to publish the book of Kaj-ravihaye Kasravi [Kasravi's deviances].

Since the first volume of this book is near completion and ready to be printed, we would like to remind him to provide the means for publishing this book through this newspaper, thus fulfilling his good intention.
