

[PROVISIONAL TRANSLATION FROM PERSIAN]

[Translator's notes appear in square brackets.]

[Personal information has been redacted.]

[The excerpt below is from the section of the article that pertains to the Baha'i Faith]

[Newspaper:] Nabard-e Mellat

[Date:] 17 Tir 1334 [9 July 1955]

[Issue No.:] 123

Dehbid: Brother, 'A. H. F.

Your chaste and pure sentiments towards the firm and unshakeable principles of the sacred religion of Islam will certainly be the source of immense and effective influences. Expressing your fraternal care and kindness towards Nabard-e Mellat is the cause of encouragement and delight for the comrades and administrators of this herald of truth and justice.

The holy battle of Muslims against the thieves, the oppressors and the unfortunate followers of the perverse, dirty and spying sect of Baha'i, wherever they may be, will continue until the final victory. In this great jihad, those brothers are blessed, who, like you, are fully aware of their serious duties.

It was instructed that, according to your petition, the newspaper to be sent to you.

We wish from the Almighty God, your complete success in guiding the heedless and serving Islam and the Muslims.